VOL. XXV.--NO. 8.

BROOKVILLE, FRANKLIN COUNTY, INDIANA, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1857.

Choice Poetry.

For the Indiana American. VINTRY WEATHER. BY E. S. EDWARDS. Cold as Northern blazes.

Sighs the shivering pool; Moreory at zero, And thirty-five below it; Cold and blue the noses Of pedestrian bold, Shivering, chattering, grumbling, Hearts by Cupid smitten. But in the winternever Are in the melling mood.

And summer friends desert us, Their coldness ill concenting Certainly they greet us Without warmth of feeling. ain to talk of arder,

Of an ancient mariner, Who visited the regions Of the walrus and the bear He merrily blow his bugic, But the notes so wild and sweet, Proce, fell, and rattled, On the deck beneath his feet.

And as to southern lat!t udes
His vessel he did steer,
The frozen music melted,
And sounded loud and clear; B'en so my thoughts are frozen And I can never learn How others utter " thoughts that

Or write the "words that burn." I think about Veruvius,
With his deep and flery beart, I see the fames up-reaching, The burning lavas start; I hear the brawny Vulcan His pondrous beliews blow, But Volcan cant keep up the heat

I think of hot Sahara . Of India's sultry breezo, With fancies such as these; My fingers stiffen as I write, My ink is frozen too Wherefore, to shivering readers I bid a cold adiew. THE SLEEPING DEAD.

BY M. W. LONGFELLOW. And the roices of the night, alter the bitter soul that slumbered

Ere the evening lampe are lighted, And, like phantoms grim and tail, Shadows from the fitful firelight Dance upon the parior wall. hen the forms of the departed Eater at the open door; The beloved, the true hearted.

Come to visit me once more. He, the young and strong, who therished Roble longing for the strife.

Yeary with the march of life ! They, the hely once and weakly, Who the cross of suffering bore, foliod their pale hands so meekly, Spake with us on earth no more

And with them, the beauteous Who unto my youth was given, the thin all things else that leved me, and is now a saint in hunver. lith a clow and noteclors foostep.

Comes that messenger divineays her gentle band in mine Like the stare, so still and caint like

Looking downward from the skies Uttered not, yet comprehended, Is the spirit's volction prayer; loft rebukes, in blessings ended, firething from her lips of air.

Oh! though oft depressed and lonely, All my mars are laid saide, If I but remember only Such of these have lived and died!

LOVE IN A FIX. not be-it cannot be: Pain would I grant the claimed kiss, lui, dearest, you must surely see It never can be done in THIS !"

the pointed to her bristling deers. Proof against every fond cares-

Full aftens paces round about,
And full five paces through and through,
Ah, no, she looked so very atout,
The stender form that once I know!

paced my lady round and round, hope some loop hole might be found, Which storming Love might struggle th

In vaip, in vain—'was perfect all;

The stood, "the Fashions of the day,"

Whest rampert, bastion, tower and wall

Hight hold belonguering hosts at bay.

Curtained, and fringed, and fortified,
A whalebone "harness on her back,"
And the hemmed in on every side,
Intrenched accuracy from attack.

Tempassed her about again,
Resolved to prove a firm adorer;
Found force and strateagy in vain,— Laid slege to and sat down before her-

"Starving," I said, "won't make her thin Unless sho sallies out to me !"

TI COMBADES, FILL NO GLASS

Ohle omrades, fill no glass for me -To drawn my soul in liquid fame, For if I drank, the toast should be-For if I drank, the toast should beTo blighted fortune, health, and fame.
Yet, though I long to quelt the strife
That passion holds against my life.
Still been companions may ye be;
But, comrades, fill no glass for me!

Then wounded bearts that I should heal,

Whose patient sufferings need my care—
I knew a bearth that once was bright,
But drooping hopes have needled there.
Then while the lear-drops alghily steal—
From wounded bearts that I should heal, hough boon companions ye may be, On! comrades, fill no glass for mo!

Whon I was young, I felt the tide But manhood's years have wronged the price My parents controd in their chile by all that memory should revere, hearth been companions ye may be ? Oh, comrades, all no glass for mo!

HOW THE EMELINE WAS the sea swept the deck. Some of the LOST.

HARROWING SCENES. Captain and Crew all Drowned.

Everybody concluded that the Golden at night, however, we received a telegraph.

Ocean House, was quietly sipping his cof- side, as if to protect it from the salt wa- sed to be submitted on behalf of the state and but a sense of libety lost, William fac, and wondering when that N. N. E. ter. The fifth man ascended the rigging, but was stoutly opposed by the prisoner's Patterson now expiates his dreadful crime. storm was going to cease, he looked out which had now become heavily incrusted counsel, who knew its overwhelming seaward, and espied the upper part of a with ice, and held on for a long time. brig heading for the beach. As yet her In their exposed situation on the beach hull was hidden from sight, but he could most of the wreckers were badly frost-tions and admitted the testimony. It had see that she was crippled in her spars, and, bitten in the faces, feet and ears. Seve- been proved in the course of the trial that as he thought, in a pretty sad plight .- rat of them were so badly frozen that they about eight o'clock on the Sunday follow-Soon her hull loomed up, and he could were obliged to be driven home at once ing, that on which the deceased and pris- ly said, "argument is exhausted, and fursee that it was evidently the intention of to save their lives, and others came to oner left Mr. Hammel's, a gentleman con her captain to run her ashore, because with serve in their places. About 4 o'clock in ing toward Memphis met the horse prothe wind which was then blowing she the afternoon the man in the rigging loos- ved to have been Mr. Merriweather's, on might have been kept off without diffi- ed his hold and fell backward, dead, on the road, about 2,000 yards from the that she was disabled in her rigging and rail was also insensible or dead, for he had that she was disabled in her rigging and rail was also insensible or dead, for he had galloping at full speed in the direction of leaky, and the pumps being probably from made no motion for several hours; so the Hernando, and appearing to have been exzen, and the men worn out with toil and wreckers, having done all that they could, ceedingly frightened; with difficulty the exposure, her captain had determined to secured their implements, and with heavy gentleman intercepted and caught him. ort to the last chance for saving the hearts wended their way homeward. lives of himself and his crew. On she On Monday the brig broke in two, spilt came, staggering and slow, as if unwill- out her cargo, and drove high on the ing to lay her bones on the beach like an beach. Many of her deck planks were old hulk, after the brave services which driven by the force of wind and sea far has struck the beach, and the sea is dash- lives. They appeared, at all events, to following about whenever he would come Three miles off, these events had been the men the letters "M. S." were stamped horse was. observed by Edward Wardle, the Under- in India ink. A carpet-bag, containing a wing apparatus, who, leaving orders for his gaiter boots, was found. It was marked William Merriweather, accompanied by a is reasonable to suppose that, an ignorant ted on, since which both have been entrusty crew to follow with surf-boats, life- Jas. W. Knox, Eastport, Maine. On an- number of gentlemen, witnesses in the man, in describing the order of nature, as tirely sightless. There is no hope of his won the mother to his favor, is not stated cars, cables and mortar, jumped into his other bag was a brass plate on which was case, came up from their homes in Mis- unfolded by the successive flats of the wagon and dashed off to the wreck.— engraved Daniel Knox. A card upon it Twenty minutes after she struck, he was bore the same name. The names of the William Merriweather was riding the ly a confused and contradictory effusion; the statement of the prisoner is fully corproved with Ed.'s love making as it often on the beach near her. She lay head on shore, some seventy or eighty yards from able that the bags belonged to two of them. by this time been recovered in the family. being of this character, it vibrates in unithe beach, the sea breaking over her star- Unless the bodies are claimed, they will The journey lay along the Hernando son with the discoveries of the most modboard side. There were only six men to be interred in the Methodist burial-ground road, and by the spot where the body had ern science, thus proving that the pen of be seen on board. Whether any others at Long Branch. The identity of the been found. About two hundred yards its author was directed by the Author of were lying in their bunks below frost-bit- vessel has been established beyond all before the party reached the scene of mur creation. The question of the harmony ten, and unable to crawl up, may never be question by papers washed ashore. known. The main sail was half set and The brig was 300 tuns burden, built in er was mounted, began to exhibit symp- the "order of creation," stands upon a the sailors, getting under the lee of it, Penobscot, Maine, in 1851, where she was toms of alarm, and his intractable conduct grand and impregnable basis. were for a while somewhat sheltered from owned. She cleared from New York in much surprised his rider and the gentlethe storm. Capt. Haggerty thought that October, 1856, for Granada, arrived ar Aux men who were with him.

if they had launched their boat over the Cayes, from Granada, Nov. 16, and sailed might have got safely ashore; but they ved Dec. 3. What was the date of her betrayed none. His ag. tation increased seemed physicially incapable of exertion. departure for this port could not be ascer- as the party approached the fatal spot; Who has ever seen the cow Probably they were frost-bitten, or had tained. She was loaded with logwood, and when they reached a point in the calves to its legs? not strength enough left to launch the copper, scrap-iron and turtle-shell. The road opposite to it, the excite ment of the boat, and very soon it was too late; for vessel was consigned to H. D. Brookman, horse rose to so furious a pitch that he be- lows that smelt a rat? as our informant graphically described it, No. 37 South street; cargo to Hubbard came almost unmanageable. "the storm came on heavy enough to blow & Co., New York. It is believed that no the oars out of their row-locks," To insurance had been effected on either ves- horses, and for a moment regarded the Was any barber ever applied to to shave and cold-taking days, which, unless provilaunch a boat from the beach in such a sel or freight money.

moriar arrived, M. Wardle shot a line vessel after she came ashore, ahowed that his nostrils distended, and his eye glan- to a pig's "chap?" dismal enough for a groan and one of pled and disabled state, from which it is moment, snorting and neighing, a sublime | ker." them tried to clamber up the icy rathres obvious that the captain believed he could picture of the wildest excitement. benumbed, and the attempt was abandon- on the beach. ed. Another and another line was thrown over her by Mr. Wardle; but they were too far gone to help themselves. Five young man, by the way of a joke, placed ed into the wood, and down to the iden- The individual who has been seen by ionable, thin-shoed and flounce-dressed fork." lines were fired at various elevations a caliskin over his head, and rushed out tified tree, under which the body had the eye of a potato has never been visible. gentry, with a genteel cough and conacross the brig, but not one of them was upon some young girls who were passing been found, and commenced pawing at its Barnum may possibly discover him. of any use to the doomed men. It was a along an unfrequented road, making a hor- root. After a moment, he trotted out fur- Was there ever an individual unlucky away your wafer understangings and sum- ment lying near his plate. terrible storm, the wind driving the sea in rible noise. The girls were terribly ther in the wood, after making a semihuge waves over the vessel, and hafling frightened. One of them died two days circle in his course, returned to the same river?

"Oh thunder," said he, "is that what thick, warm, sensible and protecting clothyou call a fork?" Well, well! I the't the faces and eyes of the wreckers on ill.

ry. How few, however, realized that they might have been saved. How painright by the gate of the sea, many of their |-how imploringly the poor fellows lookagainst the fierce elements for dear life .- | the cabin crawled on deck again, and anall that the wreckers could do it was fear- that was heard high above the crash of the intended to stay by them, and the assu lands, the Bay and Narrows were impas- over the top of the galley, or something sably frozen up, and all the rail and oth- like it, leaped into the sea after it. After er roads were buried under snow banks buffeting the waves for awhile he gained ever so many feet down, so that reporters the raft, but it was held fast by a line could not get to the coast, and everybody which he had not seen, to the vessel. Full phis to Hermando, Mississippi. course of events, further information the men on shore could see it turn over thirteenth civil district, the Court of Ra- instantly by the death-struggle, would deed. could be obtained. On Tuesday a pilot- in the boiling waves. Occasionally, only leigh had no jurisdiction, and the priso- have known nothing of the tree in the boat managed to work up from the Low- the feet of the man were visible but he ner would have to be acc the brig Golden Lead inside of the Hook, The raft then came toward the beach, the glorious art of Daguerrre; the decoy into the first place, I could not knew him, and pushing aside his conducat anchor, on Sunday morning early .- man still on it, and the wreckers crowded Lead was the unfortunate craft which had to save him. Their humane intensions been dashed to pieces on the beach. Late were defeated, for just as the shipwrecked took place in the twelfth or thirteenth civ- vindicate, as if by a miracle, the unerring next place, I thought every little boy must the divine, supposing that he had married man was all but within their grasp, the il districts. to note from Sandy Hook, stating that the waves dashed him against a high ledge human aid could reach the mariners .eline we have procured from a gentle- Three of them returned to the cabin, and The known instinct of animals has, prisoner was guilty, and sentence of death suffered !" man who arrived from the Beach hast were never seen to come out of it again. from time immemorial, been esteemed in was pronounced against him, which was evening, being the first person from that A fourth, a young and slender man with the law as among the sources of evidence afterward commuted to imprisonment for About 9 o'clock on Sunday morning, along the lee-rail directly under the chainwhile Capt. Haggerty, the host of the plates, and laid his head over on the outTestimony as to these facts was propohearts and hopes, where time is as eternity

She came to the conclusion the deck. The young man lashed to the

she had performed. On she came, near, ashore, high up among the sand hills and er and nearer; the stout Captain left his cedars. The bodies were washed up on comfortable abode and ran down toward the beach soon after, nearly destitute the beach, while the women-folk crowd- clothing, and Coroner Lewis came down ed to the door in breathless suspense to and took them in charge. The brig bewatch impending catastrophe. On she longed to Penobscot, Maine, and was coming him, mounted and rode hurriedly off came nearer yet, till the faces of her crow manded by Capt. Bradbury Farnham, of could be seen, pale and ghastly, from the that place. The captain was a single man, here submitted to the jury, in reference to hore. The white breakers leap and roar about forty years of age, and reputed to eagerly to the fatal embrace; as her prow be a good seaman. His mate belonged to parts the milky foam every man cried, Chicago, Ill., where he has a brother resi-"God help us!" and held firmly to the ding. We believe that all on board befrozen rigging. Another moment and she longed down East at some time in their his master, whom he was in the habit keeper of the life-ea- good pair of pantaloons and a pair of next

At Ham, in England, recently, a done, and instantly the noble animal rush- have been pushed for one.

Select Mliscellany.

A Murderer convicted by a Horse.

doubt, and this point was met by the evi-

The Circuit Court of Shelby county twelfth district. The dividing line bename of the lost brig was the Emeline, of ice, which projected from the shore, thought them of certain marvelous and the prisoner was sealed, and thus: and yesterday the Golden Lead safely and saw him no more. As the day wore novel conduct of the noble horse which reached the city, with the loss of some of on, the storm waxed flercer, and the cold had been referred to, which had come to grew more intense, it was evident that no their knowledge in conversation with the black hair and beard, hashed himself by which the dearest right of life, liberty life in the State Penitentiary.

The learned judge overruled the objecscene of murder, and south of the same.

The gentleman finding the animal almost uncontrollable from fright, had some difficulty in retaining the rain until roung man came forward and claimed was recognized by the gentleman at the trial as the prisoner at the bar. He came forward, said the gentleman, claimed the horse, thanked him gracefully for catchin the direction of Hernando. The facts the wonderful instinct, are these:

It will be remembered that the not intelligence, and singularly attached be Americans. On the arm of one of to the pasture or the farm-yard where the Moses, who, certainly, was ignorant der, the horse upon which W. Merriweath- of revelation and science, as it relates to

There was no appa rent cause of alarm strange conduct of the horse, with pro- the beard of an oyster?

Similar exhibitions were made by the horse a number of times afterward in passing the spot. At this startling development in the ditto estimony, a thrill of feeling ran through the court room like an electric shock. history of this mysterious murder, with a dear." certainty too fearful to be doubted, and in the prisoner's dock as the guilty agent bowl.

sacrifice, when the strong arm of the law rate prejudices, you will pardon me." terposed in its might and majesty to dence afforded by the horse of Mr. Merri- shield him. The venue unproved even mean?" the earth, with the blood and guilt thick night." diction of all crimes committed in the upon him. But the God who "marketh fifth, thirteenth and fourteenth civil dis- the sparrow when he falls," in His inscrutible providence, hand yet in reserve an eloquent witness against him-whose faithful heart was steel to the wiles of the corrupter, and whose testimony fell upon "Confirmation strong As proof of holy writ."

the astounded ears of the jury, as hence the doubt whether the murder and the horse's instincts were destined to posture into a pliable condition; in the in that matter," "What is it, pray?" said At this critical point the council be- the venue was proved—thus the doom of the baton to roll it along; finally, I began fellow, "I gave you a ten dollar bill, when "A pebble in the stream let scant Hath turned the course of many a river,

A dew drop on the baby plant
Hath warped the giant oak forever.

Harmony of Science and Revela-The Scientific American thinks that the brought to a point at which it may be trugives the following as the sum of the elation and science on these points.

ings of geology; the other class believe thus they assert that this science, as genevolving, we conceive, the least contradiction between science and revelation, or

Some several months after the prisoner of creation in that specific order which was committed to fail under indictment, accords with the science of geology. It great Jehovah, would have presented on-

Show us the young lady whose

Where is the identical nose of the bel-

The whole party now checked their felt for by the heart of an oak?

cheered a feeble cheer, but it was almost ced, and that was otherwise in a very cripter had met his horrid fate, he stood for a ever been sensibly felt by a hand of "po- ish beings which claim anything of reason his plate, and began to eye it very closeto catch it. He was evidently too much not keep her affoat, and purposely ran her One of the party suggested to Mr. Mer- ewer been listened to by an ear of corn? thick and warm clothing. Away with I stiil noticed that my old friend kept eye-

From Life. Jones and Mrs. Jones were at breakfast. Jones is a sensible individual; Mrs. Jones, very curiously dressed; oddly, I believe,

"The fact is," said Mrs. J., with a humiliated expression, "I wore a hoop," blushed; she, with her good, sound, common sense; she, with her fine figure, develtween the twelfth district and thirteenth road-and no appearance of any struggle oped by nature as a woman's figure should boring under a false impression, the gentledone in be; she, with "organs, dimensions" and man who married the man was present the road, the horse, whose rapid flight and everything Shylock describes-she wears and could speak for himself. "Where is If the crime was committed in the wild fright must have been occasioned hoops! It was a gloomy revelation, in- he now? show him to me," said the stran-before vexed 1 will never roll a hoop about me The deceased was found some forty or the minds of the jury, as if typed by the again. I suffered enough that night at the who tied the Gordian knot. The fellow witness stated that the body, as he thought the wood—the robber's demand for gold get into the box-chair, without awkward. tor, said, while the perspiration covered down as close as they could to the water had been dragged there from the road, or blood—the death-struggle at the tree— ly holding or squeezing the painful im- his face, "Mister, there's a mistake made certainty of retributive justice; and thus notice the hoop, and run after it with a lit- the wrong parties. "Why," replied the to mistake myself for Goddard's balloon. I meant to have given you a one dollar tied down to the ground with strong ropes bill: I can make the thing right now; you for the inspection of every passer-by. At give me $10, and here's your change."last I succeeded in taking a seat; a cush- "We will step into the vestibule," said the The verdict of the jury was, that the chair; but cushion or no cushion, what I preacher. "No, don't take that much trou-

> "I presented it yesterday to Miss Con- lage were on them, and the position of the necticut, who unfortunately has none." "And yourself?"

"My dear Jones, I will never roll a hoop

A Monstrous Outrage.

A case of the most aggravted and inexcusable oppression has recently come to ther discussion worse than useless," and editorial correspondence of the Cleveland Herald of the 13th :

Something more than a year ago a young suit was not favored by her parents, and to their own sex, than to the other .-The Scriptures and the science of geol- man named Shannon was sent to the Pen- she was driven to make claudestine ap- What man, unless he be a dry goods meritentiary from Lorain county for one year, pointments with her darling Ed. One of chant, knows whether a woman wears period in a state or condition without a for manslaughter. Shannon was a fire- these eventuated funnily enough. Ed. Honiton or cotton lace ? What man else, living thing upon it-no plant, no flower, man on one of the Cleveland and Detroit was to come to the house and wait outside knows the value of the dainty handkerno insect, bird, beast, or man. Both teach steamers, and when assailed by a passen- till the lights were turned off, and then chiefs with which ladies so estentationsly us that the successive acts of creation des- ger with a knife, struck his assailant on she would quietly let him in. The even- polish their pretty noses? What man scribed in the first book of Genesis are in the head with an iron poker, and unfor- ing came, and Rosa thought her parents else, knows, or cares to know, the value of Never attempt to con exact accordance with the revelation of the tunately killed him. On trial, under would never retire. But after a while the the camel's hair shawl, spread so carefully man by telling her that she is growing book of nature. There is no difference advice of counsel, Shannon plead guilty; Doctor sought his nightcap, and Rosa slip- over their shoulders? By the rood !- handsome; she will consider it an indir of opinion between the teachings of rev- it is thought a jury would have acquitted ped off into the back parlor, and sat down not one. But the delighted peacock pos- way of telling her how plain she used to him. His eyes were somewhat affected in the dark. Her mother thinking all sessor rejoices that ever feminine eye be. One class believe that the days men- by the glare of the fires, though his sight others had gone to bed, lighted a lamp, which rests upon it, computes its value to tioned in the first chapter of Genesis was so good that he could distinguish per- turned off the gas and went up stairs to a fraction. Yes-women dress much his clerk for stealing he sold a horse mean epochs of time, and may be so in- sons across the prison yard and work regu- bed. But while she was standing in the more for each other's eyes than men! I of colored Alcohol for French brai terpreted, and thus accord with the teach. larly in the shops. In January 1856, Dr. hall, at the head of the stairs, she heard a never knew a man, whose opinion was Mr. Gloss is decidedly down on all larly in the shops. Dawson persuaded him to have one eye gentle rap on the door. Fearing that the worth asking, who did not prefer to see a morality. that the days referred to can not be so in- operated on. He at once became totally wind would blow out her only light, she pretty woman (and I imagine the most terpreted; that they mean solar days; and blind in that eye. In April Dr. D. sent thoughtfully set it down in the hall, and demure of 'em don't look long at any for him to the Hospital in order to operate descended to the door by its uncertain light other) unestentationsly and modestly shines on different objects. Some it hard rally taught, is contradictory to revelation. on the other eye. Young Shannon pro- As she threw open the door, in rushed dressed; and I never saw a pretty woman Thus the main question stands, but not in- tested against having his eye touched, Ed., and seizing her in his arms, began who did not look prettier in her plainest stated that he had lost one eye by the such a seige of kissing as prevented her home dress than in her most elabora former operation, that his time had nearly crying out for aid. Poor Ed. did not dis- adornments. But alas ! for plane hom the question of controversy is one only expired, that he had no friends or money, cover his error until he had called her his dresses-where are they? Where is the and could not consent to run the risk of darling Rosa about ninety times, and re- pretty de laine, and neat calico, none too losing his other eye. He peremptorily ceived on his face a blow in exchange for good for little climbing feet, (now fash geology, has described the successive acts him to dictate in the matter. He was impertinent villain, he incontinently fled refused, but was told that it was not for each kiss. But hearing himself called an banished!)-Echo answers-where?" bound to the operator's chair by the Doc- the house, as greatly chagrined as Mrs. P.

He is about 23 years of age, is said to be without relatives or friends, and has conducted with perfect propriety in prison .-His time expired three months ago, but he still remains in the Penitentiary, without any other home in this, to him, midnight that it is almost impossible for all the counworld. His fellow prisoners, commiseratry folks, especially those who live in the lady, quickly. ting his terrible affliction, have placed backwoods, to keep up with them. And $125 in the hands of the Warden for the then the country folks are accused of belee rail as soon as the brig struck, they on the 20th for Gonaives, where she arriand the several other horses of the party has ever been encompassed by the arm of the several other horses of the party has ever been encompassed by the arm of the several other horses of the party has ever been encompassed by the arm of the several other horses of the party has ever been encompassed by the arm of the several other horses of the party has ever been encompassed by the arm of the several other horses of the party has ever been encompassed by the arm of the several other horses of the party has ever been encompassed by the arm of the several other horses of the party has ever been encompassed by the arm of the several other horses of the party has ever been encompassed by the arm of the several other horses of the party has ever been encompassed by the arm of the several other horses of the party has ever been encompassed by the arm of the several other horses of the party has ever been encompassed by the arm of the several other horses of the party has ever been encompassed by the arm of the several other horses of the party has ever been encompassed by the arm of the several other horses of the party has ever been encompassed by the arm of the several other horses of the party has ever been encompassed by the arm of the several other horses of the party has ever been encompassed by the arm of the several other horses of the party has ever been encompassed by the arm of the several other horses of the party has ever been encompassed by the arm of the several other horses of the party has ever been encompassed by the arm of the several other horses of the party has ever been encompassed by the arm of the several other horses of the party has ever been encompassed by the arm of the several other horses of the party has ever been encompassed by the arm of the several other horses of the party has ever been encompassed by the arm of the several other horses of the party has ever been encompassed by the arm of the seve tions among thomselves. Such men, though wearing stripes of degradation, > are not wholly depraved. Dress Warm.

Where is the person who has ever been climate is changeable. Pleasant and themselves wound up, and set in some a representative elect in the legislature, charming weather soon passes into raw rather awkward fixes while in the city. ded against, are most disastrous to the was my lot to be seated next dish to ar gale was impossible, and as soon as the An examination of the rigging of the found astonishment. His flesh quivered, Where is the girl who was ever married health of the people. But the women- old rural gentleman. Soon after taking the young ladies-are the most exposed. his seat, I noticed that he took up the beauover the brig's rigging. The poor fellows her main boom had been broken and spli- cing into the woods where his noble makes the most insensible and fool- ful silver four pronged fork which lay by and prudence. They dress to be sick, and ly. What vocalist can lay claim to having half of them are, because they despise riweather to give him the rein that, mean- Who has ever been pushed by a should- such nonsense, men and women, and pre- ing his fork, but did not eat. At last he while, had been tightly drawn. This was er of mutton? [We know of many who pare for the change of season. Better be called out: healthy, beautiful and robust, than fash- "Look you here, Mister, bring me sumptive look. Then dress warm ! Put waiter pointed out the four-pronged implehad pointed to the pallid youth who sat dropping his buttered toast into the sugar- ving at the designated house, made the ed either a retraction of the wound inflict-"Heavens! Mrs. Jones, what do you ed, the prayer was made, and the first cold mornings, between the hours of three ter!" "I am not the individual who mar-He ried the couple," said the minister, "a cowhides. friend officiated." "Yes you did," persis-

The clergyman assured him he was lager. The minister descended from the ble, here's your change," said the newmade husband. The eyes of the assembtwo clergymen can be better imagined than described. The man that made the mistake and the minister who tied the knot went out together-the services were re-Jones finished his tea, and went to busi- sumed, and we presume the bride groom ness, whistling in a thoroughly satisfied went home satisfied with the first lesson in the drama of connubial felicity. We > drop the curtain. A Misdeal in Love.

The Keokuk Gate City relates the fol. printe and sensible things. Witness the Ed. H. paid his addresses to Rosa, the "It is my opinion, after all that is said daughter of a Dr. P., of that city, but his that woman dress much more with an eye tor's assistants, and both eyes were opera- was angry. who have inquired into the outrage, that with the full consent of her parents. It to write good sermons," suggested the min

> "Give Men Fork." BY HAZEL GREEN. ESQ.

posted in all the new-fangled idea swhich cation." the city worthies may invent. When we consider that they are inventing something new every day, we should not be surprise Read the following good advice "Our to think that our country folks often get

After all had been served by the waiters ously engaged to preach a funeral ser- General, accompanied by the editor of a to practice? non at that hour, delegated a visiting Republican paper in Lafayette, as his wain one flesh. The bridegroom's joy ed upon his honor and Kansas fame, or heart, he handed the clergyman a ten dol- The retraction did not appear. The last symn was being read, when the new mar- and four o'clock, at the Junction House in ried man was seen hurrying down the aisle. Lafayette, for the arrival of the valient towards the pulpit. His excited manner soldier from Chicago, to proceed to the we blame in others. and frightened looks riveted the attention Queen City to meat the Gazette man, but The reason why egotists find the of the congregation. He ascended the we believe it resulted in a Bob. Acres' fizsteps to the desk, and whispering to the zle. We presume the scarcity of coal in themselves in it. ried a couple this noon, ain't you? I tell usual on such occasions. At all events ted the fellow, "and I tell you there is a Things I Should like to Sec.

hurry, who would not stop to watch femi- tre from splendid ancestry. That is left nine ankles climbing in and out of omni- for little great men to do cloak or shawl without crushing her bonnet or hair; or be good natured when he asked if he ever witnessed a public execuwas sick, or had cut his chin when shaving, or had to wait ten minutes for his dinner or breakfast, or who was ever "refused' by first in front of his looking-glass. An author who did not feel pervous a the idea of examining trunk linings and

A woman who was not at heart inimical of her own sex.

Fanny Fern, among the almost indiseased mind, gets off some vrey approbetter-I am sick of the dull, prosy affairs," said a lady in the presence of a par-so long about it; I could write one in half your p the time, if I only had the text."

"Oh, if a text is all you want, I will racuse a week or two ago making love to furnish that. Take this one from Solomon; the young ladies, who thought here "sice The city folks are constantly changing It is better to dwell in the house-top than young man." Ah, those girls are up to eveabout and putting on airs to such a degree with a brawling woman in a wide house." rything! "Do you mean me, sir?" inquired the There is to be a Fashion-Conve

"Oh, my good woman," was the grave an American costume. Foreign dict

A Good Hit. In a party of gentlemen, recently "How do you propose to vote on the

the pending constitu

"I have thought I should vote for the ding and writing qualificatons of voters. "Not so sure," was the quick rejoinder

A clergyman who was reading to his "What ! is that the way they do it ? I congregation a chapter in Genesis, found thought the engineer blew the white

Turning over two leaves at once, he cal profession, describes him as "Law

A Column of Jun.

O'T How much easier is it to preach than

OF It is safer to be humble with one talent, than proud with ten. Or The greatest misfortune of life is old age without the remembrance of vir for In order to live instly, and be re-

A business man, how great soever his OCF A truly great man borrows no hus

Which are the two smallest insect mentioned in Scripture? The widow's

"No; but I once saw a marriage!" OF A bashful printer refused a situa tion in a printing office where females wer employed, saying he never set up with O'T "It is a great misfortune," says Le

It is all very well to say, "Know A washerwoman who ever lost an article self at home, how are you to get an intr

Bruvere, "not to have mind enough to talk well, nor judgement enough to keep at stand up high, it is simply on account of the numerous Flats that continually our Ralph Waldo Emmerson (high au thority) says that "man is the jewel of na some of these "jewels" badly act up. OF A certain author once wrote "The most happy marrige I can picture

"Ladies and gentlemen," said a ture." It may be so, but we have seen they are genuine tapestry carpete, mad

ens like mud, while others it softens like At a spiritual meeting some tim since, Balaam was called up, and asked i there were any jackassese in his sphere.
"No," he replied, indignantly, "they a

The costume of the Spanish led has not changed in two hundred years. They actually wear the same style of dress that their great-great-grandmothers did -Shocking, isn't it? OF A celebrated physician, boasting a nner that he cured his own hams, one his guests observed.

"Doctor, I'd rather be your ham than A girl in trousers went around & tion in New York in May next, to get up sponse, "you will never make a good in the cut of our coats and tronsers is no

Byron is said to have remarked the "the greatest trial to woman's beauty was the ungraceful act of eating orga." Some Yankee remarks that he could never have seen a lady having on by the teeth to a blazing hot own cob!

OF A prang girl complained to a Qu ker that she had a cold, and was mall tormented with chaps in the line. "Friend," said Obediah, "thee should for that will exclude the vote of Hon. Ru- never allow the characte come near the

OF A young lady down East latel upon seeing the engineer pull the rope of read it, and exclude your vote for not be nected with the steam whistle of a lego motive, exclaimed:

"And the Lord gave unto Adam a wife." A writer, in speaking of the and found written and, in an audible voice, his chest forward, and drawing best his read, "and she was pitched without and head while singing, as if trying to do torrents of sharp sand and pebbles into after, and another was considered fatally spot, and there stood neighing, trembling the faces and eyes of the wreckers on ill.

Who ever felt the breath from the lungs ing, such as sound-minded men and woming until he was forced away.— of a chest of drawers.

Who ever felt the breath from the lungs ing, such as sound-minded men and woming soup with split spoons!"

This may be said to be more forcible to the was forced away.— of a chest of drawers.